Dear Parents/Guardians:

The school has been notified that a student has head lice (Pediculus humanus capitis). Head lice are passed from person to person by direct contact or on shared objects (combs, towels, headphones, etc.). Head lice are small grayish-tan insects without wings; nits (eggs) are tiny and white. Should you suspect that your child has head lice, please contact your family doctor regarding the type of treatment, which should be use.

Please take a moment to review the attached information sheet regarding head lice, and check your child's head for any potential symptoms.

Thank you for your cooperation,

School Nurse
